SOLUTIONS FOR THE HEALTHCARE INDUSTRY

As the healthcare sector continues its transformation into a digital industry, extracting value from your own data is more important than ever. Even the most comprehensive databases are only as useful as your ability to leverage that data, and Ripcord provides next generation tools to accomplish the task.

With Ripcord, you can consolidate your entire organization's records online, so they're easy to access from anywhere, anytime. Say goodbye to those dusty closets filled with boxes, and save on the real estate and labor costs associated with storing mountains of paperwork. Best of all, you'll never need to pay an egregious "pull fee" from third party storage vendors just to access your own records.

With powerful, intuitive management tools and organic scalability, Ripcord lets you unlock the true power of your organization's data for the first time.

Here's how.

Fast Records Search

Ripcord converts your existing paperwork into digital assets through fast, robot-assisted digitization, so even your oldest records are instantly accessible. All the data your organization generates in the future will be seamlessly integrated into the database, with intuitive keyword and searching capabilities that make it a snap to find any file, anytime.

Simplified Patient File Management

With a unified data landscape, you can finally strip away the bureaucratic delays in the patient file management process. With a simple click, personnel can instantly search for patient records, share them with relevant parties and store them once the task is complete—all on a seamlessly integrated digital platform that provides easy access anywhere in the world.

Easy EMR Integration

Ripcord makes it a snap to integrate your electronic medical records with the data ecosystem, so you'll never struggle to make sure a patient's file ends up where it should. With a simple click, you can even push digitally certified records to your EMR systems, and powerful keyword searching means Ripcord can help you find the right file every time.

Powerful Security and HIPAA Compliance

Private storage warehouses present a stark security risk for your organization's data, but Ripcord's powerful digital protection tools make it easier than ever to secure your files.

Retention policies can automatically notify relevant personnel when a file is ready for disposition, and easy permissions make it a snap to control who can view, download, share, comment or modify any file. With LDAP/AD integration you can even set role-based access controls and permissions across the entire organization.

Powerful digital certification also lets you guarantee the integrity of your data and ensure HIPAA compliance with intuitive chain of custody information that's automatically recorded for every digital asset.
